SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 9, 1899.

Bro. Genung is trying to make his readers believe that the whole country will be in the poor house before McKinley's term of office expires.

Congressman Vandiver says he is for Marsh Arnold for Governor of Missouri. Mr. Vandiver would not like for Mr. Arnold to go before the Democratic convention for Congress.

The next Democratic nominee for Congress in this district must not be too sanguine of his election. The Republicans will have something to say about who will be the next Congressman from this district.

The Scott County Newsboy is out for Hon. Marshall Arnold for Governor. Mr. Arnold would tower like a church steeple to a water closet above any man the Democrats have sent to Jefferson City as Governor for more than forty years.

"Cyclone" Jones of the West End, way out in Howell county wants the Republicans of the Fourteenth District to nominate him for Congress. Now let Mr. Jones trot out his pedigree. The Republicans are going to look for registered stock in the next campaign.

Congressman Vandiver has been out over his district talking third term to his constituents and he says he has no fears of being defeated at the next convention for re-nomination. He knows there will be other men before the convention asking for the nomination, but he is satisfied that he will go into the convention with votes enough to nominate him.

There is a letter in the post-office in this city for the editor of the Spice Box. The editor of the Spice Box left this city several years ago after trying to publish a Democratic paper here. He was here about four weeks. When he left he failed to leave his P. O. address. He didn't go East, he didn't go West, he didn't go North, he didn't go South, and it is therefore supposed that he went where all Democratic editors go and there are no postoffices there.

The Indianapolis Sentinel, speaking of the President's reference to the future of the Philippines in his Pittsburgh speech, says sadly: "In other words, it is the purpose that the Philippines shall not be independent at any time, but shall remain under the stars and stripes." Well, have not we, who live under the stars and stripes, independences and freedom as well? Are the Filipinos to be commiserated because we propose to treat them as well as we treat ourselves?

We notice that a number of our rural Democratic exchanges are talking mighty nice about W. H. Miller of Jackson as a candidate for the Democratic nomination for Congress. Now we don't know that Mr. Miller will be a candidate but we can tell our Democratic friends that if "Bill" Miller goes in to that Democratic convention the delegates will think a cyclone has struck the convention hall. Bill is an up-to-date hustler. He has the grit, he has the brains and he has the friends and when he goes after a thing he always gets it.

Altgeld says he is not extirpated, but his Democratic enemies declare that he is. The packing of the sub-committees against Altgeld looks like a conspiracy to retire him from command. He will not be so conspicuous in the councils of the Democracy hereafter. Whether this is a matter for condolences or congratulations, however, is not clear. By putting Altgeld out of the inner circle of election managers he is freed from responsibility for a campaign which will undoubtedly be more disastrous to the Bryanites than that of 1896 was. Altgeld's turn to laugh will come when he reads the returns of the Bryan and Stone overthrow on the night of Nov. 6, 1900.

Albert Hawkins and Charley Lewis were applicants for that new Democratic office created by the last Democratic Legislature and named Beer Inspector. They were both immensely indorsed by the big and by the little Democrats of Southeast Missouri. The office pays a good salary and Charley and Albert were dying to get their noses in the big beer mugs at the big breweries (and to get their little paws into the State treasury. But they didn't get there. That little Governor was looking around for bigger men—bigger Democrats than Charley and Albert and he turned his back on these little politicians in little old Southeast Missouri and gave the prize to the other fellows way up the Missouri River.

The Democrats of Southeast Missouri are going to ask for too much in the next campaign and they will get nothing.

T. J. Akin, chairman of the Republican Central Committee, is not the right man in the right place. He has been tried and found incapable of running the machine. He proved a failure in the last State campaign, and more recently did this man Akin prove a failure in conducting the campaign in the Eighth District. Akin is not the man for chairman of the Republican State Central Committee and he should be invited to step down and out and make room for a man with brains and executive ability.

The American public schools in Manila were opened on July 3, and every native pupil has been taught the English language one hour each day. There are 39 schools in the city and all are crowded with Filipino youth, who are rapidly acquiring a knowledge of the language of this country. The schools open at 7:30 in the morning and continue three hours. Then there is a recess until 2:30 p. m., when the session is resumed for two hours and a half. The school year is nine months and attendance is compulsory for children from 6 to 12 years of age inclusive. When this generation grows up it will be fitted for self-government; and the same school system will be extended to other cities as rapidly as civil governments are organized in them. Anti-expansionists will please note.—Toledo Blade.

Gen. Funston's method of dealing with the Philippine insurgents seems to be, as he outlines it, to whip them first, and then talk civil government to them. This is the plan which is being pursued. Aguinaldo understands the situation in this respect by this time. He knows that some sort of a civil government will be furnished the Filipinos, and that the amount of autonomy in it will be increased as the people of the islands prove themselves to be fitted for it. But he also knows that none of it will be provided until American sovereignty is accepted throughout Luzon. Aguinaldo is not in the dark as to American intentions, but he thinks if he surrenders the days of his power are over. Like the walking delegate in the labor disturbances, Aguinaldo's pay and potency depend on the continuation of the trouble.—Globe-Democrat.

Hay Fever.
To any one afflicted with this terrible disease I desire to say that I suffered for twelve years without missing a summer, and that I believe my case was as malignant as any that could be found. This summer I began to suffer in the usual way, and learning that the Semmes Gaseo-Chemie treatment had cured catarrh, I decided to take it. After the fourth treatment I quit sneezing and have not been troubled with this disease since. It is now six weeks since I began taking the gas, and I feel so well that I desire to tell all others who sneeze and sneeze and suffer during the lovely summer months, how and where I was cured.

MRS. W. C. BERGMANN.
Mrs. Bergmann is one of the best ladies in Cape Girardeau and no one would question her word for a moment. Those having hay fever would do well to see her.

Schools in Cuba and Elsewhere.
Prof. J. F. Draughon, who is author of four text books on bookkeeping, will, on October 10, 1899, open a well equipped business college in the Emille building, St. Louis, cor. 9th and Olive streets. His brother, who was for four years principal of Draughon's Practical Business College, Nashville, Tennessee, will have charge of the St. Louis college. Prof. J. F. Draughon recently visited Cuba with a view of establishing a business college there next year, and on his return he opened a business college in Savannah, Ga. He also has a flourishing business college at Galveston, and one at Texarkana, Tex. His colleges are the best patronized business colleges in the South. They give a superior course of instruction and have special facilities for securing positions. Money for tuition may be deposited in bank till position is secured, or good notes will be accepted. Special rates will be given all who enter at St. Louis on or before about the opening. See ad. of these colleges elsewhere in this issue, and write for free catalogue. Address J. F. Draughon, President, Nashville, Tenn. aug17/22&w.

Good Enough to Take.
The finest quality of loaf sugar is used in the manufacture of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and the roots used in its preparation give it a flavor similar to that of maple syrup, making it very pleasant to take. As the medicine for the cure of coughs, colds, in gripe, croup and whooping cough it is unequalled by any other. It always cures and cures quickly. For sale by I. Ben Miller.

Good Tidings to Asthma Sufferers.
Foley's Honey and Tar gives quick and positive relief in all cases.

How Are Your Bowels?

Are your bowels regular in their movements? If not, your health is more or less impaired, and you never will feel entirely well until your bowels move regularly and naturally. Constipation is one of the most universal and distressing afflictions of mankind. It is an ailment that is a constant menace to life, for, when the bowels, which are the sewers of the body, fail to move at least once a day, the system becomes impregnated with impurities and diseases, which often result fatally, are easily contracted. All victims of constipation have invariably the same experience to relate in reference to the various remedies that they have tried in an endeavor to obtain relief, and in efforts to cure this ailment. There are legions of pills and mixtures on the market, all of which are alleged to be "purely vegetable, perfectly harmless, and a certain cure for constipation." No one but the makers know what these pills and potions are made of, and they won't tell. It would kill their sale if the truth were told, for it would frighten off the consumers if it were known what drastic drugs (calomel, soap, croton oil, etc.) that "these purely vegetable" preparations contain. No one ever knew or heard of a case of constipation that was anything more than aggravated by the use of such remedies. There is not a reputable physician in either America or Europe, however high his standing in the profession, who will not acknowledge that it was only a few years ago, comparatively, that medical science discovered a drug that will absolutely cure the worst and most obstinate cases of chronic constipation. That drug is Casca Sagrada, and it grows nowhere in the world but in California. The best and most carefully and scientifically compounded preparation of Casca Sagrada on the market is Casca Ferrine Bitters—made in California, the home of Casca Sagrada. It is the only medicine of any kind now sold, the makers of which take the public into their confidence and tell what it is made of. Casca Ferrine Bitters contains, in addition to Casca Sagrada, nothing more than Cinchona, Malt Extract and Iron, with pure California Sherry Wine as a base, the latter being the product of this company's own vineyard, in Sonoma County, California.
